

Brenda is a quiet, isolated student who attends The Palmdale Aerospace Academy in 2018 Palmdale, California. Her life changes forever when she discovers the school's secret-- a majestic, sophisticated skeleton from the "other world" that lives in a broom closet.

Shape of Marrow

You are Brenda Marrow, a TPA Scholar. You have just exited from your second class with Ms. Breight. You have every class with Ms. Breight as your teacher except for 6th period with Brophy, Breight's rival. (You have no idea how this happened, but Breight made it possible after you reluctantly agreed to join Girl Code before the idea sort of died.)

So, you just exited her class and before you can leave the second floor of the school, you hear a loud thump. You look around in panic; all the students around you continue to walk to their bridge class. You almost put on your earbuds before an even louder thump startles you.

You decide that "Girl Code Meetings" are a waste of time and search for the source of the startling noise. You check almost every class (except for your own obviously); after some time, you start to lose hope until the closet next to you makes the same, unmistakeable sound.

SEARCH      Do you search for the source of the noise or go to Breight's bridge class?

BREIGHT

You forget about the weird sound and go to your Bridge class. The rest of Girl Code is there with Ms Breight. You join their conversation about how to revive girl code.

Bad End

Do you open the closet door?

No

Are you sure?

Yes

You hesitantly open the door and witness a beautiful sight. A lovely skeleton, wrapped in a plastic sheet, turns to you and gasps. You panic and stumble back, but skeleton-senpai touches your forehead with its hand. You can see everything. All the pain and suffering that this poor yet beautiful skeleton has gone through. You find out its name, which is Samuel btw, and how Breight has been tormenting it with lectures and ideas about how to revive Girl Code. You sympathize with this helpless creature.

Well, that was a waste of time. You were too scared to open the door so you back up too much and fall off of the second floor. You are now dead.

Bad End 2

Do you help it escape?

No

YOU HEARTLESS PERSON! YOU ARE NOT GOING TO HELP THIS POOR SKELETON????! fINE , Be that way! I quit!

Bad End

You grab a blanket to place over the skeleton and place your 'friend' on the janitor's cart . You push it out of the closet, but you feel a hand on your shoulder. You turn around and the hand belongs to Zebersky, a fellow student and Russian Spy. She pulls you by the arm and takes you to a safer location. She tells you that she was sent by Brophy to kill the skeleton so GIRL CODE could never be revived again. He wanted to replace it with Girffins in Real Life Coding. But, Zebersky had a change of heart and decides to help you escape with the secret. BUT OUT OF NOWHERE, BREIGHT SHOWS UP WITH YOUR GIRL CODE TEAM MEMBERS. She challenges you to a duel with a Quadratic formula sword. She kicks another sword towards you. Z pulls out colorful gears.

You decide to fight. Z throws gears at Breight while you swing randomly at Breight until you finally are able to strike her blade. It breaks in half and Breight is left in shock. You run out of the school with the skeleton in your arms, in bridal style duh, and Z follows you. She notices that you are having a moment with your skeleton friend so she salutes at you and disappears into the night. You look at Samuel and kiss its forehead.

To be continued in Shape of Marrow part 2.

Do you fight?

normal end

Yes

No

You throw your Brophy plushie at Breight and run away with samuel. Zebersky catches up with you and salutes at you as she disappears into the night. (you don't know why so much time passed while in the closet but it is now night time, okay? You turn to your lovely skeleton friend and you realize that it isn't alive.

normal end